

From the Desk of Chief Editor

Dr. Geeta Prabha
Principal
Ganga Institute of Education

This is both an exciting and electrifying experience for taking up chief editorship of “Bhartiyam”, the International Journal of Education and Research. We are in the midst of a revolution in information and computer technologies that has penetrated all sectors of society. Lifelong learning is becoming a priority as we face an aging population. The younger generation views the traditional classroom as an anemic alternative to the world of games, chatrooms, virtual worlds, and other electronic media. In this new era of Knowledge based society, the educational standards need to include deeper understanding and writing expertise, higher quantitative skills, critical thinking, and flexible reasoning approaches.

The editorial mission of “Bhartiyam” is to advance the knowledge about emerging trends in the arena of education through research. A unique aspect of this journal is that it includes recommendations for the practical use of research findings. It was originally conceived to provide a scholarly platform so as to construct/innovate, experiment, practice and share didactic for effective learning. The ultimate aim of the journal is to publish high quality research and conceptual/theoretical articles that focuses on the essence of advanced and knowledge and related issues and trends.

I accord heartiest thanks to our Honorable Chairman, “Dr. Sushil Kumar Gupta” for his ever available benign support. I also place on record my sincere thanks to Referred Board, Advisory Board and all the Contributors to our journal for their valuable support and cooperation.

Hoping for the best support and valuable suggestions in future!!!
